A DAY AT RIVERDALE

Charlene's the sober one in the Cook family this morning. Why? She doesn't have her Spanish finished.

THE COOK FAMILY

"Hurry, Hurry the bus has stopped in front of the house!" says the younger member of the Cook family.

At last, I'm at school, I wonder what I have forgotten.

I need my Spanish Book, my paper, and oh yes, my pencils.

GOES TO SCHOOL

A cool refreshing drink helps Roger remember facts for the big test ahead. (Right)

THE BRAIN TEASERS

"Hasta manana," is a frequent expression of Michele Davis as she leaves her Spanish I class each day. In English class she translates this for her classmates, "See you tomorrow." In Spanish class you learn how to speak better English and in English you learn how to speak Spanish well. Does this make sense?

To the English-Spanish class it does. This is the reason you should have a good basis in English before you tackle a foreign language. At Riverdale the pupils receive this in their English classes, so that they are prepared for their foreign language.

"What's that question again, Mr. Smith?" asks Floyd.

POLITICIANS ALL

In studying the world, and its problems, each pupil at Riverdale is learning to become a first class citizen. To study about other countries and other times is important to each pupil in understanding how his own government works. It is the duty of each person to see that the government is well run. Senior government is the final step toward adult citizenship.

An interesting report, Jerry!

PRACTICAL MINDS

As the boys in our agriculture department are learning to become better farmers, they learn to improve the land by soil conservation and good farm management. Good judgement is important.

In the home economics, the girls learn how to run efficient homes through lessons on nutrition, clothing, and child care. They learn how to improve their personal appearance by good grooming.

Another of Dan Bennett's disturbing questions beings out that mischievous smile of Mr. Hartung's as the rest of the class snicker.

THE EXPLOSIVES!!

"At last, it's finished, now for the grade," says Cynthia Friend.

From the outer most space to the enter most earth the science pupils go to observe and study the mysteries they are to conquer. Chemistry pupils work long hours over their lab tables in class during and after school. There is always excitement caused by small explosions, large pops or leaky troughs. The eighth grade prepare for high school science as they learn the scientific names of rocks, plants, and animals. Field trips to farms and wooded areas add to the interest of their classes. Projects such as bug, leaf and rock collections create more interest in the field of science. In these classes the pupils learn lab safety, chemical symbols prepare them for careers in science, medicine and life.

Mr. Hartung's geometry class learned that accuracy in measurement and calculations was necessary in mathematics.

ACCURACY COUNTS

Accuracy in typing is initial.

The pupils learn to work with speed and accuracy.

Archery class is a favorite of boys and girls alike in developing strong arms and good eyes.

STRONG MINDS AND BODYS

After showing the pupils how to build strong, healthy bodies, Mr. Stephens teaches the health class the whys and hows of good health.

The seventh graders study the fundamentals of music as well as sing in Mr. Lowery's music class.

Quite! We're studying.

Riverdale pupils prepare their lessons for the school day in the study hall. Here pupils diligently study under the watchful eye of Mr. Guinther, who keeps them studying diligently.

The seniors started the last year at R.H.S. off by choosing the curriculum, officers and sponsors. Many hours were used in senior projects. The senior play, "Jane Eyre" and the Christmas semi-formal dance were the first semester projects. Candy sales and dues helped boost our treasury to enable us to go on the long awaited senior trip, which was taken the first week of May, 1962. We went by train to New York and Washington, spending six sleepless, memory filled nights. We arrived home on Sunday filled with tales of our trip and ready for an all night whirl at the junior-senior banquet. Final exams, Baccalaureate and Commencement.

SENIORS

The highlight of our freshman year was our initiation. A class of scarecrows, vampires and sleepy-time people arrived at school to be met by the seniors of '59. They decorated us with burnt cork, lipstick and necklaces of onions, potatoes and carrots. Plans for the Christmas Semi-formal dance began. By our sophomore year we were experienced. Plans for the Thanksgiving hop, "The Turkey Trot" filled our time and minds. The turkey raffle was won by our surprised sponsor, Mr. Hartung. Planning sessions and practices for "The Variety Show of 1960" proved time consuming during and after school. This was our first class production and we were busy with building scenery, sewing costumes and polishing routines. The show was given March 17 and 18 with large crowds both evenings to see the results of our long hours of hard work. We ordered our class rings and sweaters; the sweaters arrived in January. The class rings came in September of our Junior year making us full fledged Juniors. Magazine sales and selling concessions during the ball games and the noon hour filled our time. The presentation of our class play "Great Expectations" and the Junior-Senior Banquet rounded out our junior year. We gave the seniors of '61 a final send-off by being their escort at their commencement.

We started our freshman year with 32 members and our senior year with 31 members. We, the Class of '62 said good-by to R.H.S. and its good times when we received our diplomas in May, 1962.

"Thanks Jim, I'll remember you on our class trip!"

"Another ad for our yearbook!" was the cry of the seniors.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

(Right) "This, can't be the right size," says Darlene as she measures for caps and gowns on Etta.

(Below) Announcements and name cards made the seniors feel like seniors!

The Juniors frequently enjoyed a thriving concession sales at noon.

Allen Holman, V. pres.; Ford Hudson, Pres.; Terry Doub, Sec.; Dan Bennett, Treas.

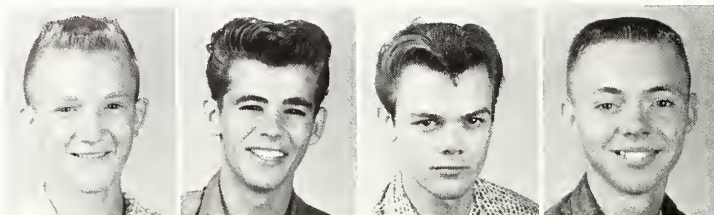

The active juniors sold concessions at school and to fans at the home basketball games. For two weeks in the autumn they held their magazine sales. Judy Walters received a prize for being the best salesman. On September 12, the long-awaited class rings arrived. The juniors sponsored a class basketball tourney. Following the exciting final game there was a record hop. After weeks of fun and practice they presented the junior play in the spring. The exciting junior-senior banquet climaxed the year. Sponsors: Mrs. Mann and Mr. Coe.

The sophomores had an interesting year, really getting into the swing of things in high school. Several received invitations into the Beta Club. Many of them played on the basketball team and four out of the five cheerleaders were sophomores. Ordering class sweaters and rings were important events for the sophomores. One fund-raising project was making cider. Some of this cider was served as refreshments for the Halloween Hop. The sophomore sponsors were, Mr. Zonker and Mr. Guinther.

It felt just great being in high school. At last we were one of them. The feeling of being a frosh was great. Now we would choose our own subjects.

We wondered what would happen to the classmates that entered high school with us. Would we all graduate together? Only time would tell. At Thanksgiving time we sponsored a sock hop. With mixed-up shoes, sore feet, and all, we had fun. This started our high school projects. Our helpful and willing leader was Mr. Hansen.

We in the eighth grade class, with one year at Riverdale High School behind us, found it much easier to enter our second year of junior high school. We knew the school regulations and also knew just about every loop hole in them. We settled quickly into our routine and knew that this would be our last year of preparation before entering high school. The coming year would give us the privilege of choosing our classes, which would give us a choice of continuing music, or taking advanced math, science, foreign language, and commercial subjects. We enjoyed our class parties and other activities.

On the first day in the high school, we felt absolutely lost. All those big upperclassmen looking down at us, and, oh, the empty feeling in our stomachs when we were to go to a strange room for a class. What if we were late? What would they do to us? We wonder what the upperclassmen were laughing about. Didn't they ever go through this? Boy, were we glad when this day was over. The day ended and later it seemed much better. We became accustomed to changing class rooms with each class, learned the names of the teachers, planned two class parties, raised the money for them, and last, but not least, we took our place as part of Riverdale High School.

Some staff members take a coke and coffee break after working hard to make the "deadline."

ANNUAL STAFF

Staff members spent many hours just as Frances and Dola are, with pen and typewriter in hand.

The annual staff, consisting of the senior class as a whole, editors, and advisor spent many, many hours planning, editing, and finishing the yearbook. In our frequent night sessions, many new words such as cropping, outlines, 3-R's, I.D.'s copy, cuts, and several other odd sounding literary wrecks entered our hectic, and loud gab sessions. We all learned, with or without previous typing instruction, how to type the numerous jobs necessary in editing the yearbook. Several nights the proverbial midnight oil burned in our headquarters, Room 1, as our deadlines loomed before us. It was a lot of work, but it was just as much fun.

BETA

T. Doub, Pres., J. Hart, V. Pres., L. Fisher,
Treas., J. Impton, Sec.

The local branch of the National Beta Club spent an active year. The major project of the club was the school library. It was their duty to keep the library orderly and up to date. Each period a Beta member forfeits his study hall to act as the librarian. The members are to promote and be good examples of character, achievement and good scholastic averages. The club promoted worthy projects for the community such as the Red Cross drives. As a non-profit organization they raised money only for their expenses, some of this money came from their annual Sweetheart Dance in February. These worthy projects were under the direction of the club's sponsor, Mrs. Mann.

Roger Cook and Ruth Washler, the representatives to Boy and Girl States.

"March, march, hurry up, we're going to be late." These were the words that were most familiar to the two representatives to Boy and Girl States, Roger Cook and Ruth Washler. Learning more about the government of the United States from the primary elections to the state conventions and elections were the activities of boys and girls from all over the state. Bloomington, Indiana, Indiana University Campus was the site of these events. Roger ran for County Commissioner while participating in the many activities. To this office he was elected in the general election. Ruth decided to try her luck at a state office. She ran for Secretary of State but did not get pass the state convention. Later she was appointed to the office of Civil Defense Director. She was one of the leaders during the evacuation of her county.

Hurry! Hurry! Rush! Rush! That's the story every day along this well traveled passageway between buildings before classes.

GIRLS' 4-H

There were three girls' 4-H Clubs, Workers Not Shirkers, Concord Township; Peppy Gals, Spencer Township; Country Cousins of Newville Township. The boys' club called the Champion Chefs were in their second year of competition. All have been under the leadership of Mrs. Huddleston. Projects taken were foods, clothing, home improvement, crafts and photography with approximately sixty girls participating and six boys. Many girls took part in the annual dress revue with Linda Halt, Beth Fields winning Reserve Champion ribbons and Patricia Coburn, Champion ribbon. Karen Fish and Sharon Kruse won a trip to the 4-H Club Round-Up at Purdue University in June. Carol Nebehy won a trip to 4-H Club Camp in July. Patricia also had her baking, a Swedish tea-ring, sent to the State Fair. All clubs were represented in the county judging and demonstration contests. The Concord and Spencer clubs won Honor Seals for their clubs on the basis of 90% completion and 80% attendance. Each club had a community project besides their regular projects.

BOYS' 4-H

The four 4-H clubs that Riverdale pupils have been active in are those in Concord, Newville, Spencer, and Jackson Townships. The clubs advisors are: Russell Guinther, Concord; Bob Jarrett and Ed Washler, Newville; Bob Walter and John Mason, Spencer; and Sammy Morr, Jackson.

Projects undertaken included beef, pork, miscellaneous livestock, crops, and beekeeping. At County Fair time several members won honors. Bill Guinther won Grand Champion with his sheep, as did Jim Derrow with his hog, and Stan Miller with his brown Swiss cow.

Gene Sible won a Reserve Champion ribbon with his angus steer.

Gary Hart and Larry Mason won a trip to Indianapolis to show their award winning honey projects in the Indiana State Fair.

The clubs clean the school grounds frequently as their community service project. The 4-H'ers of the combined clubs enjoy their annual swimming party at Hamilton Lake each summer.

Sharon Boylan and Joel Tuscan are the patrols on No. 6, Mr. Keller's bus.

The town patrol members: ROW I: L. Lake, A. Renfrow, N. Shockley, M. Huff, J. Griggs. ROW II: R. Lake, M. Loy, L. Kinsey, N. Carr, J. Stiver.

Put me down, Joe Garery, put me down this instant!

I feel like a young man with great expectations!

Keep still, you little devil, or I'll cut your throat!

Under the direction of Mrs. Campbell and student director, Lynda Fisher we took on the challenge of "Great Expectations" as our Junior Play. Having experienced a Variety Show the previous year we knew what was needed: practices, scenery and lots of advertisement. Six weeks of work and fun went into the play. The costumes were designed and made with the help of a mother, Mrs. Tuscan. Three performances were given on April 20, 21, and 22, 1961.

Behind the scenes.

"How was that?" asked Steve.

A BIG ADVENTURE

No Steve, you're not suppose to fall in the door.

V A R S I T Y

Even though the Comets' record was not an excellent one, the boys showed the signs of a good athletic team. Under Coach Don Stephens, the boys showed remarkable sportsmanship and good training in basketball fundamentals. The team fought hard from the first jump ball until the final buzzer. They sported new green uniforms the last half of the season and played some sharp ball in them. In the shots on this page, you see the Comets and their trainer in action.

Was it blocked?

Comets score again!

Just a minor injury, Doctor Frank will fix it up.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL

Was Joe safe?

Strike 'um out again, Norm!

Say, what a physique!!! The weight lifting program illustrated in the picture is one of many new additions to the high school's physical education program this year.

One of the most widespread and most lauded improvements at Riverdale this year was that in the physical education department, initiated by Mr. Stephens and Miss Cool. The additions to the boys' program were those of table tennis, badminton, tumbling, shuffleboard, archery, rope climbing, and golf, in addition to the activities previously given. Miss Cool taught tumbling, golf, archery, square dancing, stunts, softball, and dodgeball in addition to basketball, badminton, and volleyball, formerly offered. These have been valuable improvements and were very badly needed ones at Riverdale. It has brought to light the possibility of a new sport, wrestling in the school.
